SHIP NEARLY RUNS ON WAIKIKI REEF

Arthur Sewall's Narrow Escape From Going Aground

The ship Arthur Sewall, which arrived from Manila after an unusually long voyage last Saturday night, had as narrow an escape from placing herself in the same predicament as the Manchuria and the Sheridan, as she could possibly have had. In fact to those watching her from the shore it looked as if she had run on the reef off Waikiki, but had managed to get off again.

When the Sewall came in to port she naturally expected to find a tug waiting for her to bring her into the harbor, but such was not the case, as every boat in the harbor was at work on saving some one of the vessels now in trouble. Capt. Gaffry kept on coming in, evidently expecting the Fearless to put in an appearance and when about opposite the Seaside hotel seemed to stop and hold.

She was at this time almost in the very midst of the breakers which surrounded the Waikiki reef and it looked to those on shore, who gathered in a moment, as if she was in a bad predicament. The fact that she immediately began to burn signal lights made matters look all the worse, but suddenly gathering speed, she seemed to pull away from her dangerous position and start for the harbor entrance.

The Sewall had a long trip from Manila, being 71 days on the way, experiencing only the lightest of winds. She is discharging the 1600 tons of coal that she brought, at the Naval wharf, and will then load sugar for New York.

The officers of the Arthur Sewall state that at no time were they in serious danger of running ashore. They were watching the reef closely and state that they did not come within a quarter of a mile of it at any time. In speaking of the matter to a Bulletin reporter this morning First Officer Eaton said:

"We did not have less than 25 fathoms of water at any time when we were off Waikiki or in fact till we came to anchor alongside the Astral. The lights we sent up were for a pilot, and we burned white lights instead of blue, as we had run out of the latter altogether. Our trip from Manila was very uneventful but was slow on account of the fact that we struck light winds all the way over."

"We had only one trouble on the trip over; that was in regard to tobacco. We had plenty of cigars when we left Manila, but before we came in they were almost all gone and we had to break them up in order to have tobacco for our pipes."

"I shall be glad to see some of my old friends in this city, among them Capt. Miller, whom I knew on the Atlantic Coast. I am surprised that he is not in charge of some of this wrecking work, as I do not think there is a man on the Pacific Coast who has had as much experience in this line. I knew him well when he was on the Atlantic and I was running down to South America as captain of a steamer."

HILO CONVENTION

Hilo, Hawaii, Aug. 30.—The Republican County Convention will be held here in Hilo on September 27th. Instead of at Kalua, as was previously announced by the County Committee. It was found that it was impossible to make steamer arrangements which would enable all of the delegates to reach Kalua, and the change had accordingly to be made. Delegates are requested to take particular notice of the alteration in the arrangements.

PULLING ON TRANSPORT IN NOW ABANDONED

Captain Humphrey, U. S. A. Quartermaster's Department, returning from the Sheridan wreck off Barber's Point last evening, gave out the following:

"The Sheridan has been securely moored and is now resting easily, doing no further damage to herself by pounding or rolling. She will be left as she is until the arrival of the powerful pumps and the wrecking gear, which have been sent for from San Francisco."

"I have received cable advices that this gear will be shipped from San Francisco on the Korea, sailing on Tuesday. The transport Buford has also been ordered here and will sail from Seattle on the same date, September 4."

"We have taken all the baggage of the Sheridan and the personal property of all the passengers. The perishable freight has also been brought to Honolulu."

"The only vessel of the Inter-island fleet which will be used from now on is the Iwaland, which has been chartered as a tender. She is now at the wreck with the water barge, for which, at last, a use has been found. "The captain and crew will remain on board the transport."

SEPTEMBER TERM OF COURT OPENED

Formal Action Taken To Avoid Technical Kicks

The September term of the Circuit Court was formally opened this morning at 9 o'clock. The great event did not attract much attention, present being only the court officials, police officers, a bunch of prisoners and a stray reporter. The court was adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow, no business being transacted.

The opening of the court was merely a formality. The statute says that the September term shall open on the first Monday of September, but as this coincides with Labor Day the question has been raised whether it should be opened the following day or not. Last year Judge Lindsay, who was then presiding judge, opened court on Tuesday. The question was then carried before the Supreme Court, which decided that that was all right. Judge De Bolt, however, wished to avoid risking having the question taken before the United States Supreme Court, so he opened court today to make the matter absolutely sure.

The calendar this term has an innovation in that the cases, instead of being given consecutive numbers according to their place, are given the regular numbers, which were given them in filing. It is probable that by this some confusion will be avoided, which occasionally arose under the double number system.

The criminal calendar for this term contains 64 cases, a considerable reduction as compared with that of former terms. This is accounted for principally by the wholesale weeding out of "deadwood" cases, which was made during the April term. The most interesting cases are those of George Wallace Jr., charged with murder in the first degree; Halemano, charged with manslaughter; and Geo. Lucas, charged with embezzlement. Judge De Bolt will handle the criminal calendar until Judge Lindsay returns from the mainland, when he will take it over. The civil calendar, of which Judge Robinson will take charge, contains 131 cases. The jury-waived calendar includes 75 cases, which Judge De Bolt will hear. The first actual work of the term will be done tomorrow, when Judge De Bolt will empanel the Grand Jury and charge it.

LYCURGUS ENTERTAINED

A farewell dinner was given at the Volcano House Sunday evening by Mr. Demosthenes Lycurgus to his guests who are to depart during the week.

One long table was spread, beautifully decorated with trailing rose vines, hydrangeas and carnations, at which all the guests sat down, twenty-five in number.

Mrs. Henry Castle of Honolulu was the guest of honor as the one who had been longest at the house, fifty-seven days.

The following was the menu: Cream of celery soup, caviar sandwiches, fried mullet and tartar sauce, olives, celery, roast pig (roasted whole), French peas, asparagus, alligator pear and celery salad, omelette soufflé, chocolate cake, black coffee.

Toasts were drunk in pure ginger ale, as follows: "Our Wives and Sweethearts," responded to by W. L. Howard; to "Mrs. Castle, the Guest of Honor," by Mr. Lycurgus; to "Our Guests," by Mr. Wm. Shipman and Mrs. C. W. Ashford; by Mr. Lindsay; to "Our Host, Mr. Lycurgus," and to "Mrs. Holland," by Mrs. Castle. Others contributed to the entertainment with stories, comedies and songs.

Dr. Kobayashi of Honolulu favoring with a Japanese Love Song.

Those present were: Mrs. Henry Castle, Miss Eleanor Castle, Mrs. Wm. Shipman, Mrs. C. W. Ashford, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Craw, Dr. and Mrs. Kobayashi, Mrs. Gurney, Miss Gurney, Miss McLain, Miss Sadie McLain, Miss Mollo Grace, Miss Elsie Werthmueller, Mr. S. R. Werthmueller, Miss Mary Lawrence, Miss Nellie Baker, Miss Florence Harrison, Miss Jean Van Coover, Mr. W. L. Howard, Mr. Adam Lindsay, Miss Annie Lindsay, Master Aris, Demosthenes Lycurgus and Mrs. Holland.

Tender Meats

maketh the stomach joyful. But it is often a problem to find the right place to get what is really tender. The frugal housewife gets her meats here, while the one who thinks she can save a sixpence by getting them in another place often spends a shilling in other expenses. Then you must count the cost of the energy in making the meat tender with a hammer.
